KENTUCKY IRISH AMERICAN

Cites Revolutionary History That's Not Known to the Average American.

British Authorities Declare Emigrants Helped Win War For Independence.

Thirteen Colonies and Washington Valiantly Aided by Men of Ireland.

IRISH TROOPS FROM FRANCE.

Following is the second letter of Dr. William B. Doherty, correcting the Courier-Journal and setting forth some history not known to the average American:

Through a mistake of the printer, in my note on Irish Americanization in the Courier-Journal of November 30, I was quoted, instead of Lord Mountjoy, as stating that the majority of the Continental army during the war for American Independence was Irish. A writer in yesterday's Courier-Journal attempts to contradict Lord Mountjoy's statement, and to ignore completely the great and noble work which was done by the Irish for the War of Independence. "History is the high court of humanity, whose truth must be heard and justice must be pronounced." I shall quote English and American authorities to prove that the major part of the soldiers in the Continental army were Irish. Lord Chatham in the English Parliament in January, 1775, declared Ireland is with the Americans to a man.

An address to the people of Ireland by the Continental Congress, Philadelphia, dated July 28, 1775, and signed by John Hancock, asserts that "in thousands of your countrymen have found hospitality, peace, affluence and become united to us by all the laws of consanguinity, mutual respect and affection." In 1784 (not 1786) Lord Mountjoy gave this testimony in the House of Lords: "America was lost by Irish emigrants. I am assured from the best authority the major part of the American army was composed of Irish, and that the Irish language was as commonly spoken in the American ranks as English. I am also informed it was their valor that determined the contest so that England had America detached by Irish emigrants."

In the year 1779 there was widespread dissatisfaction in England over the conduct of the Revolution. Wives of laxity and inconstancy were brought against the Commander-in-Chief, Sir William Howe, and other officers, and so severely were they criticised in Parliament that the Premier of England decided to appoint a committee of the Lords and Commons to inquire into the charges and summon home several of the military chiefs for the purpose of obtaining information from those at first hand. They met on May 5, 1779, Samuel Galloway, Lord George Germain, Lord Cornwallis, Sir Grey Care, Major General Grey, James Robertson having been present. The Royal Gazette of October 1, concluding with the issue of September 21, 1779, and continuing with November 13, publishes, in answer to the question, "What portion of the rebel army that enlisted in the service of the Congress, were they chiefly composed of the natives of America or were the greater part English, Scotch or Irish?" Joseph Galloway answered: "The names and places of their nativity being taken down, I can answer the question with decision. There were scarcely one-fourth natives of America, about one-half Irish, the other fourth were English and Scotch."

Major General Robinson, of the British army, who had served for twenty years in America, testified June 3, 1777: "I remember General Lee telling me that half the rebel (Continental) army were from Ireland." General Challey Lee was second in command of the Continental army after the battle of Bunker Hill. The Second South Carolina Regiment was composed entirely from descendants of the Irish colony at Williamsburg and between Santa and Peechee rivers. The Pennsylvania line was the Irish line so called by General Lee. The United States Brigade and Irish Brigade under Dillon, Walsh and O'Brien fought at the siege of Savannah.

The men who stood behind the brawny work of Bunker Hill, the wall of iron on that momentous day, June 17, 1775, and held in check two battalions of English soldiers from annihilating the devoted Continentals, were Irish almost to a man, from Bedford, N. H., and were officered by Col. Daniel Moore, Maj. John French, Thomas McLaughlin and John Patton. In published historical sketches of the town of Bedford, and in the collections of the New Hampshire Historical Society, Volume 1, page 291, may be seen the names of the men of the company. The majority were Irish or sons of Irish emigrants.

Holtman's compilation of Continental officers gives upward of 600 officers of Irish names in Continental line, and speaking of militia, for his ades-de-camp, Washington chose in succession Joseph Reed, son of an Irish emigrant, Stephen Moylan, and James Fitzgerald, and his esteem for General Sullivan, who won the first decisive battle of the war, and Montgomery, Hand, Thompson, Barry and other Irish commanders was displayed on several occasions. Count Arthur Dillon, sailed with 2,000 Irish troops from France for America to the West Indies and captured Engla bases that relieved the colonists of a great danger.

Yes, the fighting Irish race was well represented "over here" in the army for independence as it was "over there" in our late war.

"Ring out the names and Burke sat back."

And Kelly drooped his head, while Shea, they called him Scholar Jack.

Went down the list of the dead.

There were blossoms of blood on our sprig of green,

Kelly and Burke and Shea,

And the dead did not brag,

Well, here's to the flag,

Said Kelly, Burke and Shea."

WM. B. DOHERTY.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Mackin Council, Y. M. I., had another of its large and spirited meetings Monday night. The fact that the annual election was to take place aroused much interest and the finish for several offices was exciting, especially that for Financial Secretary, Joseph Hohmann defeating Will G. Buckel by a tremendous majority. A high compliment was paid Anthony McGuire, Gus Hoertz and Frank Hohmann, who had no opposition. When the ballots were canvassed the following were declared elected 'or the year 1919:

President—Antony J. McGuire,
Vice-Presidents—T. Leo Connally,
John O'Connor.

Financial Secretary—Joseph A. Hohmann.

Recording Secretary—Frank Hohmann.

Treasurer—Gus Hoertz.

Marshal—Charles Lynn.

Inside Sentinel—Russell Ott.

Outside Sentinel—Anthony Connally.

Executive Committee—Robert Osborne, Geo. Pogol, Robt. Butler, John Curran, Gilbert Donnelly.

The past year has been a very successful one for Mackin, the membership again going over 500 and the council being almost entirely out of debt. From now on basketball will be a feature on Wednesday and Friday nights, under the direction of George Thornton, who has organized and equipped two leagues.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

St. John's Hall, Clay and Walnut, was thronged on Friday night with members of the Catholic Knights of America from all over the city, who assembled to greet Dr. Felix Gaudin, Supreme President, who brought a message of good cheer from the Supreme Council. President Gaudin gave a succinct and convincing explanation of the workings of this very successful Catholic fraternal society and the revised classification now offered the members. Many of the older members were present and questioned the President at length, and his answers were convincing and satisfactory to all, especially so to the older members, who are simply providers for the new classification. To the Kentucky Irish American President Gaudin said the Catholic Knights were now absolutely safe, the membership satisfied and constantly increasing and the outlook for the future brighter than ever before.

GENUINE SUCCESS.

The body of eminent singers from the Patriarchal Roman Massas under Monsignor Maestro Rafael Casimiro Casimir, who sang their farewell concert of the limited American tour in the Metropolitan Opera House on Tuesday, December 2, sailed Friday morning on La Touraine for Rome via Havre. During their short stay of two and one-half months in America the tour included fifty-six concerts, of which eight were return engagements, making forty-eight cities visited. The total receipts for the fifty-six concerts aggregated a little less than $500,000 and some idea of the expense and magnitude of the tour can be outlined with the added announcement that the gentleman who financed it did not make any profit. As the tour was not undertaken as a money-making enterprise there has been no complaint as to the financial results. In the light of this record it is permissible to say that the tour was a success.

RECENT DEATHS.

A good deal of interest centers at present on the forthcoming municipal elections, which take place this month. The precedent set some time ago by Sligo will be followed throughout the country, and elections in all municipalities will take place in accordance with proportionate representation. As already stated the Lahar party are organizing their forces quite independently of Sinn Fein, and there is a strong movement on foot, particularly in Dublin, to secure the election of candidates on a non-political basis in the interest of the rate-payers and citizens. It is probable that apathy on the subject of municipal government has been largely dispelled, these elections will set the tone for the future republican conduct of Irish affairs.

In the economic field a controversy has been raging with regard to the handling of direct freights between New York and Dublin. It appears that the usual charges for sending and transhipping at Liverpool have been added to the rates for goods which come direct from America. If this is correct, it really amounts to a revival of the old navigation acts by which England prevented any part of the British empire from trading direct with any foreign country, and it is a serious restriction on the trade liberty of the United States. However, it would be premature at present to assume that this is the case, as allegations and counter-allegations are being freely made and no one seems to know the exact truth. Unfortunately this is too often the case in Ireland. One thing only is certain: so far direct trading is not working smoothly.

The latest economic grievance which has arisen is the limitation of imports of fat cattle to England and Ireland. It seems that owing to food rationing in England the markets can not absorb all the cattle offered. English farmers have consequently been instructed only to send a reduced number to market, and they have now persuaded the Government to apply the same principle to Ireland, where conditions are wholly different. This is not the first time that this stable industry has been interfered with and all indication point to enthusiastic support being accorded to the pro-

W. M. B. DOHERTY.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Through the Reciprocal News Service comes the information from Dublin that the very large class of people who had considerable sympathy with the ideas of Sinn Fein, yet shrank from joining a party which apparently condoned murder and intimidation, have been profoundly impressed by revelations made at the court martial of E. Blythe, M. P., not generally reported outside Ireland. This gentleman has behind him a long record of devoted service to the Republican cause. He has followed this cause in arms and in prisons both in England and Ireland, and more recently as a Minister of Dail Eireann doing sound constructive work. It is clear therefore that he may be regarded as a consistent and representative Sinn Feiner. Furthermore to all who have come in personal contact with him he is widely known as a man of uncompromising honesty and determination. This is the story of the case:

As he was about to speak at a meeting in the country a man handed him a letter and asked him to carry it to someone else. This letter Blythe put into his pocket—naturally without reading it, although the envelope was not sealed. At the meeting the platform was surrounded by a force of soldiers and police and the speakers were searched.

The letter in question was taken from Blythe by a police inspector and was found to contain a scheme for boycotting and intimidating the friends and relatives of policemen.

A warrant was issued for his arrest but it was not executed until he had been in the similar Irish phrase "on the run" for several weeks. He was taken to the Sinn Fein headquarters and kept in prison for a considerable time without any charge being made against him. Finally he was brought before a military court, charged with having in his possession a document likely to cause disaffection.

Repair at once to the places of business of our advertisers, and there you will find what you wish to make merry the heart and home of every friend and relative.

FOOLISH MISSION.

It is reported that some half dozen North of Ireland ministers have come to America to tell the people of this country all about the situation in Ireland. Now watch our pro-English daily papers open their columns to these propagandists. But it will require something more than newspaper publicity to undo the work that has been accomplished by President De Valera in the past few months. The people of America are in favor of self-determination for Ireland. It matters little what the press agencies want.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS.

The American Legion is an American soldiers' organization, and every American boy who served in the war, irrespective of race or creed, should join it. As the Indiana Catholic points out, the Catholic manhood of America was foremost in the war. It should be foremost in the American Legion. The organization is formed on broad patriotic lines. Its national convention, held recently, showed the stuff it was made of. Father Kelley, the National Chaplain, says "every American soldier should join the legion." The Bolsheviks and the Socialists are of course lined up against it. They say it is "organized to suppress labor organizations." This is untrue. Go into the American Legion, and help to make it as great as its great name. Fathers and mothers should see that their boys join the legion and take active part in its meetings.

HITS THE NAIL.

The Catholic Telegraph states the case correctly in saying that every thoughtful, patriotic citizen must feel anxious over the outcome of the crisis through which our country is passing at the present time. It is the sincerest folly to pretend that the situation is not fraught with serious danger. It is not merely that unrest threatens the nation with uncontrollable evils; the country is actually the seat of a most cruel war waged by capital on one side and organized labor on the other. The people at large are forced to play the role of non-combatant victims of the conflict, to suffer from extortion, hunger and cold. This condition should not have been permitted to arise. It should not be tolerated for a day longer than the time necessary for the Government to take the proper action, however drastic, to compel the belligerents to respect the rights of the general public. The treaty of peace between Germany and the United States has not yet been concluded; therefore let martial law for this country be proclaimed, if such a measure be required, to force capital and labor to submit to compulsory arbitration. Let us have action quick and decisive.

AMERICA FOR IRELAND.

The great tour through the United States of Eamonn De Valera, President of the Republic of Ireland, has had the result of proving that America is still safe for democracy and that the American people continue to be the champions of world liberty, in spite of all that has been done by British propagandists and American torturers to prejudice their minds against the oppressed peoples of the earth. This is the sense of a statement issued by Frank P. Walsh, Chairman of the American Commission on Irish Independence, summarizing the important facts concerning President De Valera's trip and making public for the first time a detailed account of his American experiences, most of which were carefully ignored by the powerful news-distributing organizations. At every meeting resolutions were adopted calling upon the United States Government to recognize the Republic of Ireland, demanding such modification of the government of the League of Nations as would safeguard Ireland's right to self-determination.

PRAISES AMERICAN.

Popo Benedict received Mrs. John Adams Drake, of New York City, President of the American Free Milk and Relief for Italy Society, in audience last Friday, congratulating her upon her work in supplying milk to Italian children and invalids and expressing his gratification. He presented her with an autographed photograph and implored her blessing upon her work. Mrs. Drake's organization will supply milk to the sanitarium for tuberculous children which Pope Benedict has founded near Rome.

BISHOP MURRAY.

The news of the appointment by the Holy Father of Rev. John G. Murray, Chancellor of the Hartford diocese, as auxiliary to Bishop Nilan, came as most agreeable tidings to his host of friends, the choice of the Sovereign Pontiff being approved by clergy and laity alike. The clergy of the diocese are unanimously outspoken in saying that the Bishop-elect is eminently qualified for the duties of the high office to which he has been called.

Bishop-elect Murray was born in Waterbury, Conn., February 26, 1877; made his classical and philosophical studies at Holy Cross College, Worcester; was sent to the American College at Louvain by Bishop Tierney and was ordained priest April 14, 1900. After returning home he served for three years as professor of Latin, Greek and General at St. Thomas Seminary. At Holy Cross College Father Murray's record for scholarship is counted one of the best of the institution, while at the American College, where he is called "The Pearl of Louvain," it is said that one before his time ever made such a brilliant course, and no one has equalled it since his departure.

BRITISH THREAT FOILED.

Following is the copy of a letter received by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston from the Most Rev. William J. Walsh, Archibishop of Dublin, and given to the Irish Victory Fund Advisory Committee. It speaks for itself the attitude of the Archibishop of Dublin, who writes:

"My Dear Lord Cardinal: I desire to contribute a hundred guineas to the Irish national fund inaugurated under the auspices of the elected body known as the Dail Eireann, our Irish Parliament. I can not but think that, as far as our people of Irish race are concerned, their knowledge of the fact that I had subscribed to the fund would be at least as much help to us as any money contribution of mine to come in. But as matters now stand in Ireland, none of our newspapers dare publish the fact that I had subscribed. We are living under martial law, and amongst the numerous devices to which our present government has had recourse in its foolish attempts to crush the national spirit of our people is the issuing of sundry military orders. In one of these they have given notice to the editors or managers of our popular newspapers to the effect that the name of any newspaper venturing to publish the name of any contributors to the fund, or the amount contributed, will be immediate suppression."

"I of course am well aware of the deep personal interest that Your Eminence takes in our Irish national affairs and the powerful help that you have given to our people in their effort to secure their rightful control of the government of their own country. I trust that Your Eminence will not consider it a misplaced confidence on my part that I feel assured of your willingness to come to my aid by helping me to make known in America the fact of my subscription to the Dail Eireann Fund. Freedoms of the press, the right of public meeting, the right of trial by jury, no longer exist in this country except in so far as they can exist subject to the absolutely uncontrolled discretion of a military ruler technically designated 'the competent military authority.' All this has had its natural effect—the driving of disaffection from underground—with the least natural result, that disaffection funds outlast crime. The 'competent military authorities' do not seem to realize that there is no possible remedy for this lamentable state of things so long as the source of all the evil, the present military rule in Ireland, is maintained."

The letter bore the signature of Archibishop Walsh and his check for the hundred pounds sterling.

SOBER MORNING AFTER.

"We generally permitted ourselves to hope, if not to expect, that peace would automatically bring in a year of jubilee," says the Boston Globe. "But it has brought instead a year of jumble." The Globe did not even hint at the jumbo of the jumble, but the ex-Democratic voters of Massachusetts in the late election certainly passed the hint on to Washington. They say that J. Sharp Williams looked very sober "the morning after."

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

John Langan is laid up with a threatened attack of pleurisy.

John E. Browne, a veteran member of the order, is on the sick list.

Popular John B. Coffey was re-elected President of Division 1 of Portland, Ore.

Mark J. Ryan, Vice President of Division 4, is recovering rapidly from his recent illness.

T. J. Langan, State Treasurer, finds it impossible to sidestep jobs where a good financial man is needed.

Ladies' Auxiliary 4 of Indianapolis has elected Miss Maria Dugan, an earnest worker, as its President for 1920.

One of the magnificent windows for St. Patrick's church at Imogene, Iowa, was the gift of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Mary McGrady was elected President by Ladies' Auxiliary 8 of Indianapolis at the regular meeting last week, which was well attended.

Jerry O'Grady was elected President and will direct the affairs of Division 3 of Indianapolis for the next term. A smoker followed the election.

A big class initiation for the three divisions at St. Joseph, Mo., takes place next Thursday. The campaign has ended with gratifying results.

The minstrels of the Ladies' Auxiliary at St. Joseph, Mo., was an interesting event, and as an appreciation the young people were tendered a dinner dance by Mrs. John Downey, County President, and Miss June Hannan, Division President.

An occasion long to be remembered by the ten Indiana divisions of the Ladies' Auxiliary was the quarterly joint initiation in St. Joseph's Hall, when seventy-five new members were received into the order with impressive ceremonies.

A visit from Miss Ada K. Gannon to Monroe, Iowa, as the guest of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was an occasion of great pleasure to the members. Five new members were initiated and Miss Gannon was presented with a gold rosary as a token of esteem.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Indianapolis adopted resolutions at the County Board quarterly meeting respectfully asking Congressman Merril Moore, of that district, to support, with voice and vote, the Mason resolution, now before the Foreign Affairs Committee of Congress, asking for the recognition by the Government of the United States of the independence of the Republic of Ireland.

ANCIENT ORDER ELECTION.

New Albany Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which took a very active part in war work during the past three years, held an enthusiastic meeting last week, when the following officers were chosen for the ensuing term:

Mrs. Catherine Ait, President.
Mrs. Anna Richard, Vice President.

Mrs. Charles Smith, Treasurer.
Mrs. Mayme Burke, Recording Secretary.

Mrs. Frances Richards, Financial Secretary.

Mrs. Lillie Winn, Sentinel.
Mrs. Lillie Sword, Mistress-at-Arms.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

The order has now about 24,000 members in Iowa.

More than 71,000 K. of C. members fought in the great war.

Tomorrow another large class will be initiated by Prior Hill Council at Cincinnati.

A large class of seventy-five will receive the degrees at Hamilton, Ohio, on December 21.

Iowa towns seeking charters include Lawler, Whittemore, Pocahontas, Spencer and Colfax.

New councils are to be established at Albia and Fonda, Iowa, and charters are now pending for Ossian and Denison.

With everything set for the occasion, seventy-five candidates were presented for initiation last Sunday at Barberville, Ohio.

At Indianapolis last night the Right Rev. Bishop Chartrand addressed the Fourth Degree Assembly, for whom he had a special message.

Terre Haute Knights assembled in large numbers at St. Patrick's church to receive holy communion in memory of the dead in their council.

After diligent work another large class will receive the degrees tomorrow at Morris, Minn. The class last month was so large it had to be divided.

Washington Knights are planning to build a new home. Committees have been named to prepare plans and to select a suitable site, and the five councils will act jointly.

The eighty-two new members initiated into New Albany Council last Sunday were guests of honor at a social session Thursday night, when refreshments were served.

The initiation of 1,100 candidates, of whom 800 are ex-service men, was held in the Hotel La Salle, Chicago, following which a banquet was served to 1,600 of the order. This is the largest class of candidates ever initiated by the Knights of Columbus.

TRINITY COUNCIL ELECTION.

Osterholt; Second Vice President, T. M. Davin; Recording Secretary, John Colling; Financial Secretary, John L. Timmel; Corresponding Secretary, J. H. Oehler; Treasurer, Wm. F. Kruse, Jr.; Marshal, A. J. Dittmeyer; Inside Sentinel, John J. Murphy; Outside Sentinel, R. J. Anger; Executive Committee, C. E. Mueller, J. L. Sullivan, E. Luvlis, L. T. Eberle and V. K. Ecker.

APPOINTED CHAPLAIN.

The Rev. Joseph Neesen, formerly pastor of Holy Trinity church, but for the past six years engaged in missionary work in Europe, has been appointed chaplain for the Sisters of the Good Shepherd Convent at Eighth and Madison streets, succeeding the Rev. G. A. Vanroostenberghe, who died last July. Since Father Van's death the Passionists have attended this convent. For a time Father Neesen was held a prisoner by the German forces and suffered impairment of health. He has many friends who will welcome his return to the Louisville diocese.
